

SEE BUSY WEEK IN LEGISLATURE

Primary Election Bill in the Senate, Freight Rate or Railway Commission in Assembly.

HASTE IN SENATE

The Merton Bill Not Favoured—Will Recommend Assembly Bill with Amendment.

Madison, Wis., March 22.—This week promises to be a "number" in the legislature, with the primary election occupying the center of the state in the senate, and the railway commission or freight rate bill causing a lively disturbance in the assembly. The railway taxation bill has subsided into the background in the field of interest temporarily, during the war on the freight rate bill, but it will probably also come to the surface again in the upper house this week.

Will Rush Bill
The senate will pass primary bill, and may not wait until Thursday, March 26, the date to which the matter was postponed, before taking it up. It will not be the Merton bill recommended by the majority of the senate committee on privileges and elections. It will be the same bill passed by the assembly, but it will have a clause attached to it providing that the part of the bill which places state officers and candidates for the legislature under the primary system shall be submitted to vote of the people before taking effect, the balance of the measure, applying the primary system to county, city, village and town officers, and congressmen, to take effect at once. This is the compromise the stalwart senators will offer, and they have enough votes in the upper house to carry it out. Whether the assembly will accept it is another question. Administration leaders there are positive in the statement that it will not. It would mean that the next state officers and legislature would be nominated by the caucus and convention plan, as the referendum vote on the bill would be had at the next general election. If the assembly refuses to concur, as it is entirely probable that it will, the bill will go back to the senate. And when it comes to the final proposition of concurring in the assembly bill, or passing the Merton bill, which differs from it only in the manner of making up the state platform, there are, the administration men say, enough senators who will vote for amending the bill, but who cannot under their home instructions and pre-convention pledges vote against it, to make up a majority and pass the bill.

Railway People Work Hard
The promised sensational disclosures by the railway people concerning the meeting of friends of the bill establishing a railway commission, held in Milwaukee, threatens to flatten out, since the statement by Mr. Johnson, who called the meeting, that there was nothing mysterious about it, but that it was held for the purpose of discussing the best methods of counteracting the work the railway companies are doing in opposition to the bill, and to raise enough money with which to send out circulars to the shippers answering the railway arguments. The railroad men have been doing some effective work among the shippers, and they had the administration leaders badly scared early last week, when telegrams and letters began pouring in on the legislators from business men at their homes, urging them to oppose the bill. Assemblyman Cowling alone received 56 such telegrams, mostly from Oakshosh. It is claimed, however, by friends of the bill, that a reaction is setting in, and that the bill will pass the assembly, though they admit the vote will be exceedingly close. The argument the railway people are using among the shippers is that if the bill should become a law they will have to discard the commodity rate, by which manufacturers in interior towns are given a special rate which enables them to compete with others in the same line more favorably located; and they reach the merchants and other business men who are not favored with the argument that the loss of the commodity rate would force the mills and manufacturers to close down, throwing out of employment thousands of men on whom they depend for business. The friends of the bill classify these arguments as "bluff."

Will Be Left to Senate
If the railway commission goes through the assembly, all three of the big bills of the session will be up to the senate, and the responsibility for the defeat of any or all of them will be placed there. No one expects that the railway commission

LAST RITES FOR JUDGE BARDEEN

Simple Services at the Family Residence and Afterward at Unitarian Church.

MANY FLOWERS

Body Taken to Milwaukee for Cremation, Then to Edgerton for Burial.

Madison, Wis., March 22.—The funeral of Judge Bardeen was held this afternoon. There was a simple service at the family residence, after which the remains were taken to the Unitarian church, where a public service was held. The church was crowded with officials, members of the bar from Madison and other parts of the state and a number of the circuit judges, together with many friends of the late justice from other walks in life than his profession. The church service was simply and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Gilmore. He delivered a simply eulogy of the late judge, which was most effective because of its simplicity.

There were many floral tributes. The casket was covered with American beauty roses.

Bar Attends
The church service was held at 4:30. Long before that time the main part of the church was filled. The members of the Madison bar met at the Park hotel at 3:30 o'clock and marched in a body to the church. The state officers met in the capitol, and, with the exception of Gov. La Follette, they marched to the church. The governor attended the service at the house and accompanied the mourners from the residence to the church.

Honored by Judges
The members of the supreme court and Circuit Judges O'Neill, Parish, Silverthorn, Dunwiddie, Tarrant and Halsey and Judge Williams of the superior court, Milwaukee, the members of the legislative committee appointed to attend the funeral and a number of the intimate friends of the family were all who attended the services at the residence and who accompanied the remains to the church. The service in the church consisted of music by a quartette and the reading of several passages from the Scriptures by the Rev. Mr. Gilmore.

Body Cremated
The remains were taken to Milwaukee last night over the Northwestern road and placed in Peacock's undertaking establishment. This morning at 10 o'clock the body was taken to the Forest Home cemetery and reduced to ashes, which were sealed in an urn and taken to Edgerton for burial in the family vault.

The pallbearers were: Assistant District Attorney H. T. Sheldon, A. B. Morris, F. M. Brown, Dr. F. H. Edsall, Prof. V. Lenher, Fred A. Johnson, all of Madison and C. A. Bird of Wausau.

Mrs. Arthur E. Vale of Milwaukee a sister, and Aden, Claire and Frank Bardeen, brothers of the deceased justice, accompanied the remains from Madison.

IRELAND THANKED: SUPPORTS NEGROES

Members of the Negro Press and Negro Pen and Pencil Club Call.

Washington, D. C., March 22.—A delegation of members of the negro press of the country and of the Negro Pen and Pencil club called on Archbishop Ireland today and expressed to him their gratitude and appreciation of his stand in behalf of the negro. Remarks expressive of the gratitude of the race were made by Henry P. Slaughter, president of the Pen and Pencil club; L. M. Hershaw, John P. Green, and Judson W. Lyons, register of the treasury.

Archbishop Ireland, in responding, said that to him the stars and stripes had no meaning whatsoever, unless they mean the brotherhood of man. The idea of a distinction being made in civil and political matters because of race or language or color, he declared, is un-American. A man, he said, is a man, and that is all that the American constitution requires, or that it should require, if it is to be a constitution expressive of liberty.

He urged his callers to have patience, and said that, with it, the march of civilization and of Christianity would result in full recognition of their civil and political rights. He expressed the opinion that there was not in the history of the world an example of similar progress made by any people of any color and of any race equal to that of the colored people in the forty years since President Lincoln declared them free and independent. He predicted that what had been accomplished in the last forty years would be quadrupled in the next forty years.

PRES. ROOSEVELT NAME CARDINAL

Pope Leo Will Appoint if the President Desires, as a Distinction to U. S.

IRELAND IS CHOICE

The Request Is Made on Account of a Division Among American Hierarchy.

Rome, March 22.—Whether Archbishop Ireland receives the red hat or not is now practically in the hands of President Roosevelt. The pope, replying to insistence from the United States that Ireland be appointed cardinal today said that owing to a division on the subject among members of the American hierarchy he would not appoint Ireland unless President Roosevelt requested it as a distinction to the United States.

It is not at all likely that President Roosevelt will indicate directly or indirectly any preference in the matter of the appointment of Archbishop Ireland as a cardinal.

REQUEST CASTRO TO RETAIN PRESIDENCY

Venezuelan Congress Urges Him to Reconsider His Resignation and Remain in Office.

Caracas, March 22.—The Venezuelan congress, by unanimous vote at a special session, refused to accept President Castro's resignation and asked him to reconsider it. At first he refused to withdraw the resignation, but after a conference with personal friends he stated he would send another message to congress next Thursday and suggest a solution to the situation.

The congressional hall was crowded, all the members of the diplomatic corps being present.

President Castro read his resignation to congress in person. He first passed in review the terrible conditions which prevailed in the country and denounced the errors of his countrymen.

"But," he continued, "it is painful to consider how much blood has been shed and how many tears. It is a consolation to think that their bitter stream, by the law of compensation, will fecundate something that should correspond to present day aspirations, since every struggle begets an idea and every victorious idea justifies the supposition that an onward step has been taken on the road to human perfection."

"Our victory, citizen legislators, over the great adversities which have just oppressed us must terminate the tumults of our life, otherwise we shall reach a shameful dissolution."

NIAGARA RIVER IS JAMMED WITH ICE

Almost Stops the Flow of Water on the American Side—Unusual Spectacle to Thousands.

Niagara Falls, New York, March 22.—Owing to the immense fields of ice gathered on the rocks above Goat Island the American falls of Niagara have been practically dry today, and for the first time in fifty-five years residents and visitors have witnessed this wonderful spectacle. Within a few days the wind drove the Lake Erie ice field into Buffalo harbor and the entrance to the Niagara, and great flocks came down the stream to the falls. The river is so wide at the upper rapids that it has many shallow places, and here the ice lodged, causing a jam that shut off the water from the American channel.

Throughout the day thousands of persons hunted for relics and souvenirs about reefs that human feet never before touched. The American falls could be crossed at the brink by men with high boots, and great rocks never before seen were visible.

The Horseshoe Falls was not affected so much as the American, the river bed near the Three Sister Islands was dry, and the center fall between Goat and Luna Islands was a skeleton of itself. The condition is likely to exist several days.

A similar spectacle was witnessed on March 20, 1848 at which time the Horseshoe and American Falls were both practically out of business for the entire day. This also was caused by ice which accumulated at the entrance to the river at Black Rock.

The Attorney-General Decides That Papers Can Be Filed Up to Fifteen Days.

(Special To The Gazette.)
Madison, Wis., March 22.—Governor La Follette has not yet appointed a successor to Justice Bardeen on the supreme bench and it is doubtful now whether he does so before election day. It was decided by the attorney general this morning that the filing of nomination papers today would be within fifteen days of election as required by the present law, and the papers left by Wm. Ruger, of Janesville, with Chief Clerk Lush of the secretary of state's office, after the office closed Saturday were filed this morning. A movement was then started by the Madison attorneys for the nomination of Judge Siebeck of this city and his nomination papers will be filed tomorrow noon. He is a brother-in-law of Governor La Follette. The meeting of the attorneys to be held here tomorrow will without a doubt select George G. Greene as a candidate.

A number of statements signed by her were printed in morning papers. In one of them it says: "There may be other affairs in Buffalo just as sensational as that between Albie Burdick and Mr. Pennell, but there has been no husband murdered to bring out details." She intimates that pictures of other women were found in Burdick's den, but names were suppressed by the police at the instance of influential people.

DEMAND CASTRO FOR PRESIDENT

His Resignation Unanimously Regretted by the Venezuelan Congress Saturday.

ANSWER IS FINAL

Foreign Powers Plot with Rebels to Overthrow His Administration and Caused Move.

Caracas, March 22.—The Venezuelan congress last night refused to accept the resignation of Gen. Castro as president of Venezuela. It is expected he will remain in power.

This result is regarded as a political masterstroke on the part of President Castro and by many is believed to be just what he is seeking. Some astute politicians interpreted President Castro's resignation as a means to induce congress to recognize and maintain his policy. The refusal to accept the resignation is therefore a vote of confidence in the chief executive.

A foreign correspondent called at the palace this afternoon to interview President Castro and was permitted to enter his bedroom when he was dressing. He was in a private conference with Gen. Velez, president of congress, and with Senator Eduardo Blanco, a former minister of foreign affairs.

Says He Is Grateful
When President Castro was asked to give the reason for his resignation, he said:

"Read carefully between the lines of my message and you will discover the motive. Congress has unanimously refused to accept by resignation. I am grateful, but I do not feel ready to resign my decision to abandon power."

"Everyone insists that I am in power. That is all right, but to stay I need to change everything in Venezuela. I shall present another message to congress on Thursday which will cover all matters."

The delegation appointed by congress called today at the president's residence and transmitted the resolution refusing to accept his resignation.

The congressional hall was crowded yesterday and all the members of the diplomatic corps were present when President Castro read his message. He first passed in review the terrible conditions which prevailed in the country and denounced the errors of his countrymen.

Says Good Will Result
"But," he continued, "it is painful to consider how much blood has been shed and how many tears. It is a consolation to think that their bitter stream by the law of compensation will fecundate something that should correspond to present day aspirations, since every struggle begets an idea and every victorious idea justifies the supposition that an onward step has been taken."

Touching on the foreign intervention, President Castro said it had been brought about by a league of people, who, unable to submit their claims to the impartiality of the tribunals, had employed force, and that because he refused they, acting in collusion with the revolutionary general, Matos, endeavored to get rid of him. In confirmation he cited a letter by the commander of the German warship Stosch.

Ready to Fight for Country
"I now deliver my abdication," he said, "in order that you may proceed legally to call on him who should take my place, so there may remain to no Venezuelan the slightest pretext for hostility to his country, or for connivance with foreigners, who, without any ground save force, fell upon unfavorable Venezuela, trampling under foot reason and justice to the detriment of civilization and right."

"All the energies and possibilities of my life are at your service, should it become necessary to arise and defend our country."

The news of the president's resignation created intense excitement in political circles, a night session of congress was held and a resolution was adopted requesting President Castro to reconsider his resignation in view of the critical condition of the republic.

In view of the reasons for resignation it is believed that President Castro will retain office.

CHURCH FAILED TO HOLD ALL AT FIRST BIEDERWOLF SERVICE

REVIVAL MEETINGS BEGIN WITH A LARGE GATHERING.

PROF. STOUT AS A SINGER

Evangelist-Singer Displays Voice of Great Power and Beauty in Gospel Songs.

"I am 35 years old; I weigh 165 pounds; and I am married."

With these unexpected words Rev. Biederwolf last evening began a series of revival services which promise to meet with great success during the coming days. From his first words, spoken while leaning far over the pulpit, as though desiring to reach each auditor individually, he held the personal attention of each of the throng of between 1,200 and 1,500 who heard him.

Not an empty seat was left in the Congregational church. Not only was the seating capacity of the church taxed to its utmost, but every available inch of standing room was occupied, and many turned away. Fully two hundred stood throughout the service.

Plans for Week
This evening another meeting will be held in the Congregational church, and on the succeeding evenings. The afternoon sessions will be held in the Baptist church, beginning Tuesday afternoon. A woman's prayer meeting will be conducted at 2:30 o'clock each afternoon, and a general prayer meeting at 3:00 o'clock. The evening services will begin with song as soon after 7:15 each evening as a large enough audience has assembled.

Prof. Stout's singing was remarkable. His enunciation is equal to that of the average platform speaker, and although the melody and rhythm of his songs is unbroken, his utterance is slow enough to impress every word upon his listeners. His voice has a peculiar vibrant quality that reaches every corner of the auditorium without an effort. Added to that is an unusual sweetness and a wide range. In singing Prof. Stout employs gestures as naturally as would a preacher. In fact each song is a sermon in itself.

New song books are to be used during the services. Last night they had not yet been received, although they had been shipped from Philadelphia the 2nd of this month.

Rev. Biederwolf's Address
In its introduction Rev. Biederwolf's sermon challenged attention. After preliminary song service one of the five pastors, whose churches are conducting the series of revival services, turned over the meeting to Rev. Biederwolf. Leaving far over the pulpit the latter said slowly and distinctly:

"I am 35 years old; I weigh 165 pounds; and I am married. Add a little to the age and avoidance and you have Prof. Stout. With that introduction I trust you will forget your personalities, and think only of the message which we have to bring to you."

"With what intent have we come?" Not to preach a new gospel, he said. The old gospel is good enough and always will be. The purpose of the revival services is simply to preach the gospel twice a day, instead of twice a week on Sundays. There is no reason why anyone should object to revival services. Certain methods and certain revivals may create prejudice, but there is no ground for objection to the preaching of Christ twice a day.

Text in Psalms
Rev. Biederwolf then announced his text. It was taken from the 142nd Psalm, the 4th verse:

"I looked on my right hand, and behold, but there was no man that would know me; refuge failed me; no man cared for my soul."

No man cared for his soul. People wish to be cared for. It has too long been considered an indelicate intrusion to speak to a man about his soul. Many who would not seek it, would gladly receive instruction if it came of its own accord. The man who would seem to most scorn such care may be most anxious to receive it. Men are longing for a token of interest and kindness. Men who might be won from sin stay unredeemed because no one cares for their souls.

One of the reasons which kept men from caring for the souls of others is that they are too busy in caring for other things. It is not necessarily the things of self that are most cared for, although that is one great error. The prime difficulty is in the prevailing misconception of the relative importance of the soul and the body.

A False Religion
Men have not a sufficiently deep sense of responsibility for the salvation of another man. It is a device of the evil to suppose that Christianity consists in living an upright life in order that at death the Christian may be put in a heavenly boat and rowed over to the shining shores. The Salvation Army motto, "Saved to Save," expresses the right Christian attitude.

Failure to have clear views of the condition of lost men is another cause of indifference as to other men's souls. It is too fatally easy to be susceptible to the whisperings of the evil one that if there is another world—and there seems to be some doubt on this point in the minds of many—if there is another world, will be all right anyway. It should be enough that Christ said "And they shall go away into everlasting punishment." The realization of doom should be desperately earnest.

Expenses Are Heavy
In order to cover the cost of the meetings a collection was taken last evening, and an opportunity given to make subscriptions. It is estimated that approximately $370 will be needed to pay the total expenses, hotel, advertising, and general expenditures. Of this sum no part goes to the evangelist himself. As a result of the appeal last evening, which was made early in the week that it might not stand as a bugbear before the committees in charge, about one hundred dollars was raised, leaving something like $270 yet to be pledged or met by the churches which have united for the meetings.

CARLE CARELLO TAKEN TO CHICAGO

His Mother Requested That He Be Sent Home—Chief Hogan Took Him There Last Night.

Carle Carello, the young man arrested Friday night by Officer Benke, at the North-Western station, when he was making a disturbance and claiming he was Christ, has been transferred to Chicago for treatment.

Parents Well to Do
It seems that Carello's parents are not colored as he claimed and reside in Chicago where they are quite well to do. His mother was in the city a week or two ago trying to induce him to return home with her, but had no success. When she found out that he had been locked up on account of being mentally deranged she sent a friend here to make arrangements to have him sent to Chicago.

Quiet on Train
Corello was quite violent and noisy yesterday and when Chief Hogan started for the train with him last evening he had been handcuffed so he could not make much of a fight. He made no trouble, however, beyond telling the curious crowd that was following that the police were taking a crazy man to the mad house.

Crazy For Some Time
Corello according to all accounts has been suffering with the disease for several months and had acted queerly all the time he was at the Rldar farm. He used to get up every morning at three o'clock and go out in the wood-house and pray, and often did things that made them think he was not right, but as he never offered to harm anyone they did not complain about him.

POSSE OVERPOWERS TWO DESPERADOES

Hills Brothers Are in Jail at Crawfordville After Fierce Fight With Officers of the Law.

Crawfordville, Ind., March 23.—Crawfordville jail contains the Hills brothers, who attempted to kill the agent of the Vandalla railway at Brown's Valley and afterward terrorized all the citizens of the town. One of them, Jesse Hills, is badly wounded in the shoulder, having been shot during the sixteen-mile running fight with the sheriff's posse preceding the capture of the desperadoes.

The prisoners were not secured until they had exhausted their ammunition and even then not until they were in danger of being cremated alive.

The fugitives were pursued by the posse to a log cabin sixteen miles from Brown's Valley. By shooting through cracks in the cabin they kept the posse at bay until their ammunition gave out. About this time the sheriff managed to set the cabin on fire. Just as the roof was about to fall the fugitives ran out and were overpowered.

Lovers' Alarm Clock.
A suburban father has purchased a lovers' alarm clock that works like a charm. At 11 o'clock it strikes loudly, two little doors open, and a man with a dressing gown and a cap on his head, holding in his hand a card inscribed "Good night." As he bows, says Pearson's Weekly and smilingly retires into the clock, the young man takes the hint, says "Good night" to the fair daughter and departs.

CELEBRATED HER FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Double Party Given in Honor of the Anniversary of Reinette Smith's Birth.

Little Reinette Smith celebrated the fourth anniversary of her birth very happily Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith, 106 Locust street. A number of her little friends were invited to spend the afternoon with her and the time passed merrily with bean bag contests, a peanut hunt in which the prize was won by Carrie Luman, and other games.

At five o'clock a tempting birthday supper was prettily served in three courses, by the mother of the little hostess, assisted by Miss Alice Fenton, Laura Dudley and Josephine Fenton. The long table was handsomely decorated with pink and white carnations and smilax and at each plate was a fuzzy little chicken or a rabbit. The children were delighted with these unique souvenirs and took the animals home with them in great glee.

The entire color scheme for the dinner room was in pink and white and the birthday cake was frosted in pink and bore four candles. The parlor of the home was handsomely decorated with daffodils.

Later in the evening there was another birthday supper, this gathering being in the nature of a family reunion. Four generations assisted Miss Reinette in celebrating her birthday, the guest of honor for the afternoon being the little hostess' great grandmother, who is in the ninety-second year of her life. Little Reinette received many handsome presents as souvenirs of the occasion.

Greene's warehouse manifested their good will towards their foreman, George Hiller, Saturday afternoon, by presenting him with a handsome set of bedroom furniture including a handsome brass bedstead. It had been noised around among the employees of the warehouse that Mr. Hiller was soon to be married, and was decided that a gift of this kind would be highly appreciated by him.

When the furniture van, loaded with the goods, was driven up to the warehouse, the employees gathered about it, while Mr. J. L. Greene in a neat speech presented their gift to Mr. Hiller. He was much surprised at the evidence of good will on the part of the employees and thanked them kindly for their handsome present.

Since early in January Mr. Hiller has had under his charge about one hundred and fifteen hands and the best of feeling has existed between them. The assorting season in the warehouse has not closed, the gift being made at this time in order that Mr. Hiller might have it to help furnish his home in advance of the wedding.

SOPHOMORES ARE VICTORS IN MEET

THIRD-YEAR CLASS TAKES PREMIER HONORS HANDILY.

SENIORS IN SECOND RANK

Annual Indoor Class Meet Held Saturday Night—Performances Not Notable, But Interesting.

Sophomores, 49; seniors, 43. That is the result of the annual indoor track meet of the high school which was held in the high school gymnasium Saturday evening. First honors went to the second year class with the seniors a close second. The other two classes ran some distance behind. Of the points scored by the Sophomores, Channing Kent won glory for himself by chalking up 30 points.

If there were any who believed the high school was weak in material this year, the meet must have proved an eye-opener. It is said that prospects are bright for a winning track team this season. In each of the thirteen events there were from six to a dozen entries, and the finals were for the most part close.

High Class Spirit
In attendance the meet ranked well with the best audiences which basket ball contests have attracted this season. Class enthusiasm ran high, each class having a band of noisy rooters, composed largely of the feminine contingent. Owing to the length of the program the final heat of the tug-of-war, with which the program closed, did not come until late, but interest was too high for enthusiasm to lag.

Because their victory was already assured, the sophomores did not contest in the tug-of-war.

The officials of the meet were W. B. Norris, referee; Supt. H. C. Buell, Stow Lovejoy, track judges; Verne Murdock, timer; and Walter Carle, field judge.

MEXICAN TRADE ON THE INCREASE

The United States is Yearly Building Up Their Business with This Country.

The steady gain of the United States in supplying the foreign merchandise required by Mexico is the subject of special comment by an official of the British legation at the City of Mexico in a report made to the British Foreign Office on Mexican trade in 1901. "The United States of America," he says, "are yearly increasing the proportion of their trade in this country. The value of the imports (from the United States) in 1901 amounted to $6,341,323 against $6,766,042 in 1901, or an increase from 51.12 per cent. to 55.4 per cent of the total import trade. The United Kingdom and her colonies together supplied Mexico with merchandise to the value of $1,909,167 during 1901 as against $2,217,111 in 1900, representing about 15 per cent of the import trade. France supplied merchandise to the value of $1,383,869, while in 1901 the value was but $1,231,762 its proportion in 1900 being 10 1/2 per cent, but now is scarcely 9 1/2 per cent. Germany's share of the trade of Mexico in 1901, was a trifle over 10 1/2, as against 11 1/2 in 1900. The trade with Spain continues about the same as in the past years, viz., 4 1/2 per cent. in 1900 and 4 1/2 per cent in 1901. The report presents a table showing the percentage of the principal countries in the imports of Mexico from 1896 to 1901, and shows that the percentage supplied by the United States has increased from 49 per cent in 1897 to 55 1/2 per cent. in 1901; while that of the United Kingdom has fallen from 19 per cent. to 15 1/2 per cent, France from 13 per cent to 9 1/2 per cent and Germany has increased its share from 10 per cent to 10 1/2 per cent, while Spain has decreased from 5 per cent to 4 1/2 per cent.

Cotton manufacture in Mexico, he says, is not as active as formerly. The number of cotton factories in the Republic increased in late years to such an extent and the product of those already in existence so increased that with the opening up of new establishments fitted with modern machinery the market has become overstocked and several of the older factories have had to stop work and in many cases close entirely, a state of things which will continue until the existing stocks of cotton goods is very much reduced. Nevertheless cotton goods form one of the principal items in the imports of Mexico.

The use of electricity not only for lighting but for industrial purposes, he says, becoming more general, and several companies have been formed for the purpose of making use of the large waterfalls throughout the country for the generation of electricity, the machinery being imported chiefly from the United States. The electric light company of the city of Mexico has been unable to supply the demand for electricity for lighting purposes, and the extension of the electric tramway lines about the city of Mexico has greatly increased the use of electricity.

The popularity of American goods is especially commented upon by the writer, who says that boots and shoes of American manufacture are now found all over the Republic, while in the city of Mexico four or five establishments have been opened for the express purpose of selling boots and shoes of American make only.

Commenting upon the growth of the import trade of Mexico and especially the increasing proportion obtained by the United States, the writer of the report, Mr. Bjorklund, says: "However much the trade of Mexico increases, the share of the United Kingdom is always decreasing, partly for the reason that the British manufacturers and merchants generally will not adopt more modern methods, and consequently what is lost to the United States is gain to some other country.

"Though of course the United States, on account of their proximity, are bound to possess the largest share, and the facilities for transportation being greater thence than from Europe, there does not seem to be any special reason why the trade from the European countries, especially the United Kingdom, should not be more than it is, a fact that can be verified by the figures given in another part of this report. American merchants and manufacturers are ready to cater for the trade of Mexico, and their agents are continually travelling for the purpose of extending the sale of articles already known, or are endeavoring by means of samples to open fields for new merchandise. Though articles of German manufacture are acknowledged to be of inferior quality, their style and finish are such that they can favorably compare with those of greater finish, which cost more than twice as much. Another reason why German-made goods find a better market here is from the fact that the makers are always ready to accept any suggestions made by them, either by their own agents or by clients, who are often more in touch with the requirements of the country.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: It is significant that the Iowa law which has been repeatedly cited as a good one by the advocates of new railway legislation in the state, is different. The railroad commissioners there are elected by a popular vote, the same as other state officers and that is as it should be. This is one of the points on which the railroads insist and it is a reasonable contention. The railroads are not especially opposed to taxation on the ad valorem basis, but they do object to being placed in the hands of three commissioners whose offices are appointive.

A. Lawson of the Janesville Wholesale Grocery company, left Saturday morning for Milwaukee to attend the annual meeting and banquet of the Wisconsin Wholesale Grocers association.

...COMING ATTRACTIONS...

One of the most successful plays on tour, is Hall Caine's great drama, "The Christian," adapted from his famous novel of the same name. This splendid attraction will be seen here on Thursday, April 26.

Mr. Caine owes his position entirely to his own industry, persistence, and conscientious workmanship. Nothing is due to birth, except to the peculiar mental qualities of his race, little to conditions, and little if anything to friendships, they are such as he has made and secured himself. He began his literary life as a journalist. His ambition soared from Quillam a lot of wise sayings that are worth remembering. This man Caine put in the mouth of "Pete" had to make his own personal laws, but out of his consciousness he drew wisdom that the wisest can appreciate. Here are some of the clever lines given to Mr. O'Neill as the hero of the play.

"Love can be guided with a ruler like a boat."

"No man fell in love for the why but because he could not help it."

"The man that got most of his mother in him, has most of God in him."

JAMES O'NEILL IN "THE MANXMAN"

the first. He had a form, which, of course, with such a one, means to prune the exuberance of his early style. He wrote essays, he lectured he exercised himself. It was Rossetti, the artist poet of all people, who taught him tenderly not to use under unfamiliar words under the impression that they were fine. Mr. Caine soon acquired the very vehicle which he wanted, a marvelous, direct clear and (if the adjectives may be allowed to pass) a richly simple English. Students of his stories know well that he takes enormous pains with his modes of expression, and it may be stated as a fact that he will write and re-write and write again, unless he has satisfied his artistic conscience. He has strengthened himself to close study of English literature. What he has read two such volumes as his sonnets and his excellent little book on Coleridge prove. In a word, he has done what he could in the slang of the studies, to obtain the best possible medium to perfect his technique. If originality means eccentricity, Mr. Caine has an originality of style, but the one in which he reveals himself suits him like a glove—is style of the "homme"—and now, having taken to heart Rossetti's warning, he is never affected and "precocious."

Minstrels
Lovers of music will be glad to know that Prof. H. C. Handy is the man who conducts the musical affairs of the Mahara minstrels which appear at the opera house here Wednesday night. Prof. Handy for the past three years has been the musical director of Booker T. Washington's Tuskegee college in Alabama and it was the only inducement of a fat salary that persuaded him to join the Mahara forces. As a violin and cornet virtuoso Prof. Handy has few equals and as a band master has been called the colored Sousa so that outside of the laughable antics of the Darktown senators those who witness the performance next Wednesday night will be treated to a class of music seldom rendered by a traveling organization.

Mahara's famous challenge band and orchestra will give a gorgeous street parade at noon of the day of the show.

Philosophy of "Pete" Quillam
Homely philosophy is the kind, after all that counts, wears well and is good for everyday use. There is a lot of such good material in "The Manxman" in which James O'Neill is soon to appear in this city. Hall

"A sour apple now and then makes you return to honey sweeter."

"These never was wrong doing in this world that didn't in the Lord's own time bring its own punishment."

"If woman got man out of paradise in the old times, it has been atoned for since by women."

"Fiddles and the like is all right; but it's the tunes you play on them that counts."

"There is one thing that comes to a man without teaching, and that is never to harm a woman because God would not let her love him."

"Well Job had many a pain to try his temper, and he kept it, but the Lord knew where he was weak, and never sent a woman to ask him questions."

"A woman's questions are generally so near what a man does not want to tell, but there is only two ways of answering them—one is by perjurying himself, and the other is by holding his tongue."

"It's a woman's way to love the man that's done her wrong."

Giving herself body and soul and thinking nothing what she gets for it—that's the glory of a woman when she loves a man."

Marguerite Sylva and her comic opera company, under the management of Nixon and Zimmerman, presented "The Strollers" in Beloit Saturday evening. This is the same production which will appear at the Myers Grand, April 29, after visiting Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, and other cities of the northwest. Desire for a foretaste of the vehicle with which Miss Sylva has this year supplanted the "Princess Chic" and "Miss Bob White," attracted a number of Janesville theatre goers to the Line City.

On the diminutive stage of the Wilson opera house the production could not appear to best advantage, but even so it was the audience was immensely pleased. Every seat in the house was sold out Saturday noon, and between thirty and forty persons were obliged to content themselves with standing room. Don, who was with the Strollers as they appeared in this city last year, made the personal hit of the evening. Miss Sylva was quicquid and shapely as always, and Neal McNeil, who takes Eddie Foy's part, was very amusing.

Owing to the exigencies of the theatre the fan "set" of the third act could not appear to best advantage, but was made necessary. In many places the play was remodeled, the lines brightened, and new topical songs interpolated. Of these last,

A Layman's Lenten Sermon.

Twenty-third day of lent: St. Mark VII 31v.—And he began to teach them that the Son of man must suffer many things, and be rejected by the elders and chief priests and scribes and be killed and after three days arise again.

Thus Jesus fore told his own death and his resurrection. He said that the priests and leaders of the temple would not believe in him and that he and his followers must suffer from unjust persecution.

Christ had this power. He had the power, should have called for it, of raising an army of fanatics to instill Christianity into the minds of the pagans by force of arms. He could have forced the ignorant and servile people of the age he lived in to recognize his great power. Rome had already reached the zenith of her power and glory and was ready to look for other worlds to conquer. Her legions had already compelled the poor Jews to pay tribute to Caesar and had a man sprung up who offered them anything else but a bondage under a foreign yoke they would have gladly welcomed it.

Christ came upon this earth to teach the people to worship one God. He came upon earth at a time when the world was being swayed by Roman Empire and the heathen gods of the Roman conquerors were becoming all powerful in the minds of the conquered.

To this early people the might of arms and the strife with the sword was far more satisfying and more powerful an incentive to be good than merely the word of one man who walked among them with all show of meekness and proclaimed his own death and resurrection.

LESS POLITICS, MORE BUSINESS
 The following non-partisan ticket was presented at the citizens' meeting held at the opera house, Saturday evening, March 14. While it was not endorsed by formal action, it was accepted by most hearty approval. It will be presented to both the republican and democratic primaries and there is every reason why it should be accepted by both parties and become in fact as well as name.

CONVINCING FIGURES

The governor made a good deal of capital during the campaign and later through his message. In discussing freight rates in Wisconsin as compared with rates in Iowa, and his organ in Milwaukee followed up the argument by printing column after column of tariff rates, in an attempt to prove that the state was handicapped by unjust transportation charges.

These statements and figures were unchallenged until quite recently, when the roads were granted a hearing before the assembly committee.

It remained for Burton Hanson, general solicitor of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, to prick the bubble and disclose the misrepresentations contained.

Mr. Hanson is familiar with tariff rates in Wisconsin, Iowa and every other state traversed by his company. In an exhaustive address, backed by tables to prove every assertion made, he refuted statements and figures used by the governor, so completely that not a shadow of argument remained.

Any fair-minded man will be convinced by a careful digest of Mr. Hanson's statements, that they are based on cold substantial facts. They are destitute of sentiment or prejudice and no effort made to manufacture a case.

The arguments are so sound and the figures so convincing that they inspire love for the Badger state, and pride in her achievements. It is a goodly state and much of her material prosperity, as Mr. Hanson suggests, is due to the fact that all her industries, including transportation, have kept step in the march of progress.

There has been neither rupture, nor friction, until it was introduced by a theoretical reformer.

The manufacturers today are practically a unit in protesting against these high-handed proceedings against railroads inspired by appeals to prejudice and class hatred.

Populism is too mild a term. It is a direct stab, however, innocently made against the welfare of the state.

The manufacturers of Wisconsin have a right to demand a hearing. They have over $330,000,000 invested, and their product last year amounted to more than $360,000,000.

These are the men who pay the freight, and they are satisfied with the rate. They are also the men on whom the state depends for material growth and development.

An effort was made by the governor to prove that Iowa was making more rapid strides than Wisconsin, and the railroads were held accountable.

Mr. Hanson takes the chief executive to task on this proposition and shows the utter fallacy of his arguments.

Iowa is called a dairy state. She produced in 1900, $16,000,000 in dairy products while the output of Wisconsin for the same period was more than $20,000,000. In flour and grist mill products Iowa produced $14,000,000, while Wisconsin came to the front with nearly double that amount.

Iowa with a million and a half of beef cattle, does not tan a hide. Wisconsin tanners produced an output of $20,000,000 last year. The state of Iowa increased in population 16 per cent during the last decade, while Wisconsin advanced 22 per cent in the same time.

Iowa, like Nebraska and Kansas, has been cursed with freak railroad legislation and the state is paying the bill. Wisconsin has been conservative and continues to reap the benefits.

If the legislature is wise it will adopt Mr. Hanson's argument as a text book. It is worth a dozen campaign hand books, and while it does not enter the sentimental reign of "God's patient poor" it does produce an array of facts that are of vital importance to the welfare of the state.

TRADE WITH SOUTH AFRICA

South Africa is proving an important commercial field, now that conditions in that part of the world are returning to a normal state. Figures just received from the treasury Bureau of Statistics show that the imports into Natal in 1902 amounted to 75 million dollars, against 50 millions in 1901; and those into Cape Colony, 170 millions in 1902 against 120 millions in 1901. This makes the total importation into Natal and Cape Colony in 1902 245 million dollars. In round terms, against 170 millions in 1901. This increase in the importations into the South African Colonies is not only a recovery from the depression of the war period but is an actual and large gain over conditions which existed prior to that time. The importations into Cape Colony in 1894 were, in round terms, 12 million pounds sterling, in 1896, 18 millions, in 1897 18 millions, in 1899, 19 millions, in 1901, 24 millions and in 1902 34 million pounds sterling. Into Natal the imports of 1894 were 2 1-2 millions sterling, in 1896 5 1-2 millions, 1899, 6 1-2 millions, 1900, 6 1-2 millions, 1901 8 1-2 millions and in 1902, 12 millions of merchandise, to which may be added 1 1-2 millions of government stores and war material 2 1-2 millions of bullion and specie, and a half million for the Transvaal government and for military purposes.

These statements of the rapid growth of the importations into South Africa are especially interesting to the United States because of the rapid increase of our own exports to that part of the world. Exports from the United States to Africa have grown from five million dollars in 1892 to 33 millions in 1902, and in the seven months of the fiscal year 1903 for which reports are available were nearly 3 million dollars in excess of those of the corresponding months of the fiscal year 1902. Africa seems likely to prove, in the near future, a better field than South America for the exporters of the United States. To South America our exports grew from 33 million dollars in 1892 to 38 millions in 1902, an increase of 5 million dollars, while to Africa, as already indicated, our exports grew from 5 millions in 1892 to 33 million in 1902, an increase of 28 million dollars.

It matters not what the peoples ticket is called so long as it is nominated and elected. The ticket stands for business reform. It merits the organized indorsement of both political parties, and the hearty support of every good citizen at the polls.

America will soon have an opportunity to show France what can be done with a $40,000,000 ditch. The enterprise may lack enthusiasm of a De Lesseps management, but it will possess the stability of American push and energy.

The manufacturers of the state and the people in general are satisfied to let well enough alone. The legislature will do well to be governed by public sentiment. The state is prosperous and will continue to be if not disturbed by erratic legislation.

If the Milwaukee Free Press possesses any disposition to be fair, why don't the paper publish some of the facts brought out by Burton Hanson? There are two sides to all questions.

No sacrifices of party principles is demanded in support of the peoples ticket. The citizens now have an inning, and good citizenship includes all good men of all political parties.

The secretary of agriculture requests all postmasters to display crop bulletins in conspicuous places for the benefit of farmers.

What did you think of the Evangelist, and how did you like the singer? They will be at the Congregational church again tonight.

PRESS COMMENTS

Eau Claire Telegram: The average woman nowadays carries a bunch of shirt waist samples in her purse.

Marquette Eagle: It is rumored that this would be a good time for a young man to marry, as his bride's wedding hat would also do for Easter.

Milwaukee Journal: As things now stand, nobody but the La Follette men have a policy. Even the railroads cannot agree among themselves on any program beyond trying to prevent any new tax legislation, and even as to that plan they are doubtful and undecided.

Merrill Advocate: Business men may kick, and widows and orphans may suffer from reform legislation, yet still we believe the quickest way to get back to old-fashioned honesty and economy in public affairs is to give Lord Bob all he wants. The agitation will never stop until the people have had a good taste of reform.

Milwaukee Wisconsin: The toy balloon whistle added another victim to its score yesterday, but the dangerous playthings will continue to choke unthinking children as long as parents permit their use. The balloon whistle deserves classification with the toy pistol as a slayer of innocents.

Winneconne Local: The cities of Neenah and Menasha are planning out the wedding toggery for their proposed marriage in the near future. Bet a dollar and fifteen cents if the wedding comes off we'll hear of some tall domestic cat-mauling around the lower end of Lake Winnebago as a wind-up of the honeymoon.

Green Bay Gazette: Various signs of spring have been announced of late but at last the one thing has come which settles the thing beyond question. Robins, wild geese and other birds were once entitled to consideration as indications of the spring season, but now we know that spring is here for sure when the black beer signs are out. And they are.

Eau Claire Leader: Some idea of the superabundance of money in northern Wisconsin can be formed from the fact that a woman recently deceased in Chippewa county owned over $30,000 on bogus mortgages. Every one she applied to seemed loaded down with greenbacks or had fat bank accounts. She had no trouble getting all she wanted. Farmers in that county have been known to store iron pots filled with money in their barns. It is a most gratifying state of affairs.

Eau Claire Leader: Many of the bills introduced into the assembly appear to be more in the way of regulating peoples private affairs and domestic habits than of any other public utility. Nothing in particular has come of any of the sumptuary laws passed in Wisconsin this far, except lawsuits, which it seems possible to bring to any practical conclusion.

Those of our good people who at once began house cleaning and preparations for welcoming spring, because a few careless robins attempted to hurry springs advent are now putting up coal heaters again and placing the dust cloths and like paraphernalia in dry storage, since the cold wave materialized. Remember the ground hog saw his shadow a few weeks ago.

Appleton Post: The hehira of politicians from the democratic party to the socialist-democratic party will probably be checked somewhat by the proclamation of Victor L. Berger, leader of the latter party, that "office seekers who come to us from the democratic party will be placed on ice for a period of ten years"—that is if Mr. Berger has the authority to enforce his proclamation.

A Communication
 Editor Gazette: The object of this announcement is to give my position regarding the coming election and to stop if possible the many personal inquiries I have, and a receiving as to my willingness to enter in the field for mayor. I do not know whether the republicans of this city are ready to indorse a man named by the others and so make this announcement. In the first place I have as many friends in the fire as any one man ought to have and perhaps ought not to come forward as a candidate, but for the information of my fellow citizens will say I will accept the nomination for mayor if given me by the delegates to the republican city convention, although a strong bearing is being brought for my running on a strictly independent ticket. I absolutely refuse to lend my name to any ticket or organization except the one above mentioned, and say further, I will feel equally satisfied if my name does not appear at all, but if elected will endeavor to serve the city in a business and satisfactory manner.

J. THOROUGHGOOD.

Necessary Signatures Secured: The one thousand names required on the nomination papers for Wm. Ruger as a candidate for the place on the supreme bench, left vacant by the death of Judge C. D. Bardeen, were secured Saturday and the papers sent to Secretary of State Housner. There is considerable question about a successor to Judge Bardeen being elected this spring on account of a statutory provision which says, the papers must be filed with the secretary not more than forty or less than twenty days before election. The question is brought up by the fact that election occurs in eighteen days from last Saturday.

Bowling Date Undecided: It will be impossible to hold the attorneys' bowling match this week on Tuesday, as was first planned. A date will be decided upon later.

Magnolia Taxes Settled: The last of the county tax lists was closed today when A. F. Townsend of Magnolia called at the office of County Treasurer Rice. Mr. Townsend has been delayed by the critical illness of his son.

Reward for Gold Bar. Detroit, Mich., March 23.—The Pacific and Dominion Express company has offered a reward of $2,000 for the recovery of the $23,500 bar of gold that disappeared from the Union depot. The reward is conditional upon the arrest and conviction of the thieves.

Power of Birds. What tremendous power an eagle exerts when carrying away a lamb that weighs, say, sixty pounds or over! If you take the weight of the bird altogether, 76 pounds, then it appears that an eagle can develop more than two horse-power, and must put a strain of over 1,100 pounds on the muscles of the wings.

Pioneer in Immense Industry. Ferdinand Protzman, Sr., recognized as the first manufacturer of tinplate in the United States and for many years connected with various manufacturing establishments throughout the country, has just died in Pittsburgh.

TASK TO BREAK IN THE NEW EMPLOYEES

Difficult Matter to Extend Force at the Vudor Shade Company—Many Changes Needed.

In spite of every effort which has been made to complete the equipment of the Vudor factory, there are still four looms to be put into operation. A. C. Hough, the superintendent of the shade company, explains this in part by the difficulty of training the green employees for the work. Whenever another loom is started it means an increase in the force throughout the process. Not only the operators of the loom, but new sorters, inspectors, winders, pulley women, and packers are needed.

Plans of the company for a verdant lawn surrounding their factory buildings have been upset by the inundated condition of the land about their plant. The buildings were set back from the road with a view to a grass plot between the road and the buildings, to be raised to the grade of the interurban road. No grading has been done on McKee boulevard alongside the tracks, and at present the grassy lawn seems rather visionary.

GEN. WOOD ENTERS DENIAL

Files Statement Regarding the Charges Made by Maj. Rathbone.

Washington, March 23.—Gen. Wood, who is to sail from Boston this week for Manila, has filed with the secretary of war a statement regarding the charges made against him by Major Rathbone, former director general of Cuban posts. He further declared that he would furnish a copy of the statement to each member of the Senate Cuban committee, and announced his willingness to appear at any time before any congressional committee to refute any charges reflecting on his record in Cuba. The secretary had taken no official notice of Major Rathbone's charges, but General Wood objected to leaving the country without setting himself right.

Enters General Denial.

The general, in his statement, denies that he received any but purely personal gifts in Cuba. He admits attending the "Jai Alai," where the Spanish national game was played, saying that it was his policy to maintain cordial relations with the inhabitants of the island, including the Spaniards. The bishop of Havana, he says, conducted the service at the time the place was dedicated. Regarding the silver service presented him by Spanish merchants of Havana, he says it was admitted free of duty by General Bliss, then in charge of the customs service, first, because under the law no duty was collected on importations for officials and soldiers of the United States, and secondly, because the law provided also for the free importation of household goods and personal effects which were not to remain permanently in the island. As customs houses already had been closed that the governor general might make a complete return of the funds in the treasury at the hour of the American evacuation, General Bliss could issue no bond for the admission of the gift, but he personally examined it and caused its free entry.

CRITICISES CLOTHES.

Brazilian Envoy Likes Everything American but Wearing Apparel.

Washington, March 23.—The Brazilian minister to the United States likes everything in America but American clothes. The minister, Mr. De Assis Brazil, is about to return to his own country and is not expected to return to the United States. "I have been in the United States five years," said Mr. De Assis Brazil, "and I am delighted that I have had the opportunity. I can truthfully say that in those five years I have learned more than I did in all the preceding years of my diplomatic career, which were spent in other countries. The American people are a wonderful people. They are energetic, industrious and clever. But, if I may criticize, they are too speedy; they do not give the attention to things which they deserve. For instance, all my clothes are of foreign manufacture. You excel in other matters; certainly you could excel also in those in which you are now deficient should you give the time to them. The relations between the United States and Brazil are to-day what they have been since the foundation of the republic—extremely friendly and cordial. Our interests make it impossible that they will ever change."

A SAD ACCIDENT IN ST. PAUL YARDS

BRAKEMAN LEO WRIGHT, THE VICTIM.

CAUGHT BETWEEN BUMPERS

He Was Trying To Pass Between the Cars to Throw a Lever
When Caught.

Leo Wright, a brakeman in the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road, and residing at 256 West Bluff street, was caught by the bumpers of two freight cars this morning and so badly crushed that he lived but a short time.

Started Work This Morning Wright was an extra brakeman and this morning started work with the switching crew. Shortly after seven o'clock a number of cars were brought down from the yards to the freight house on North Main street to be set in on the house tracks. In order to get the cars where they belonged some switching work was necessary. Wright was at the rear end of the string of cars directly back of the station. He had given the engineer a signal to back up to couple onto a car that was on the number two track and had to be changed.

Goed Between the Cars He stood alongside the cars until they were getting close together and then noticed that the coupling pin was not raised in one of the couplers. The lever for raising the pin was on the opposite side of the car from where he stood and he attempted to run between the cars to raise the lever.

Miscalculated the Distance He evidently miscalculated the distance between the cars and the speed at which they were approaching and was caught by the bumpers. Bernard Dunwiddie, the other switchman on the train saw the accident and pulled the injured from between the cars.

Died Very Soon He was laid on the ground between the tracks and Dr. Jos. Whiting, the company's surgeon and the patrol wagon called. He only lived a few minutes after being caught, and was beyond help when the doctor arrived. He was taken to the home of his uncle, I. N. Dunwiddie, 256 West Bluff street with whom he resided.

Badly Crushed Dr. Whiting made an examination of his injuries and found that he was badly crushed about the abdomen and hips.

Deceased leaves a father and brother and three sisters to mourn his untimely death. He was twenty-one years old and an industrious young man and well liked by his employers.

The funeral notice will be given later.

THE EVENTS OF THE DAY

To Hold Examinations: J. P. Walker, special agent of rural delivery routes, will hold an examination for the position of carrier at the court house on Tuesday, March 24. There was about 100 applications for the positions, most of whom will take the examination.

Held Their Last Meeting: The Olive Street Neighborhood club held their last meeting of the season Saturday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Sloum. A picnic supper was served at six o'clock, after which the balance of the evening was devoted to cards.

Refused Offer For Road: Edwin L. Blabon, secretary of the Janesville Street Railway Co., left for his home in Philadelphia Saturday night. He did not sell the road while in the city, but is said to have refused an offer of $35,000 for the line which most people think is a big price for it.

To Be Argued Tuesday: Chief Hogan and Officer Brown returned home from Fond du Lac Saturday night. They were called to that city as witnesses in behalf of J. J. Nash, formerly of this city, who was arrested last fall on a hold-up charge. The testimony was all in when they left and the case will be argued Tuesday.

Special Meetings: Tuesday and Wednesday there will be special meetings of the Salvation Army when the services will be conducted by Major Glen of Milwaukee. He will be assisted by Mrs. Glen and Lieut. Matheson. One of the special features of the Tuesday night meeting will be the swearing of recruits, when a number of those who lately have been converted in the army will be enrolled as soldiers. There will be plenty of good music and a good time is expected. Admission is free and all are welcome.

Met With Mrs. Reid: The Athena class met Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Archie Reid and held its last social session for the season. A three-course luncheon was served to the guests at 1:30 o'clock. After the luncheon an interesting program was carried out and included a talk illustrated by pictures drawn by members of the club. The next business session of the club will be held in two weeks and will be the last of the season.

Taken to Mercer Hospital: Mrs. Julietta M. Metcalf, widow of the late J. C. Metcalf, was brought to this city from Freeport Saturday afternoon and taken to the Palmer hospital. Her mind became unbalanced while on a visit to Mrs. R. W. Burton at Freeport and she was brought home for treatment. At times she was quite violent and it took three men to hold her while she was being transferred from one train to the other at Beloit. Mrs. Burton accompanied her to this city and returned home at six o'clock Saturday night.

Y. M. C. A. Quiet: During the Biederwolf services the Young Men's Christian association will have no special features of any kind which will attract the general public, to the detriment of the meetings. The regular gymnasium and class work will continue at the usual hours but there will be no special games or attractions.

NOTICE TO ADVERTISERS

On and after April 1st, 1933, no contract will be made for business localities. The rate for this class of advertising will be ten cents per line for each and every issue of either Daily or Weekly. The Gazette adopts this policy for two reasons: First, To improve the news columns of the paper. The first consideration of any newspaper is the reader; and its value to the advertiser depends entirely upon its popularity with the reading public. Business localities frequently flood the newspaper with the last hour before the paper goes to press, and news is sacrificed to meet the demands of this class of business. Second, The Daily Gazette is rapidly extending its circulation throughout the county, giving the Janesville merchant an opportunity to talk to the farmer as well as the city customer, six days in the week. This means faster machinery, and increased expense in producing paper as well as increased value for advertising purposes.

The Gazette has also adopted what is known as the space rate for display advertising, and prices have been placed within the reach of all advertisers.

The paper has long enjoyed a liberal patronage from home merchants, and it is in position today to furnish better service than at any time in its history.

GOOD SESSIONS OF LUTHERANS

FOURTH MEETING OF THE EAST-ERN WISCONSIN CONFERENCE.

HELD IN CALEDONIAN ROOMS

Meeting Was Packed at Each Gathering—Services Will Close with Addresses Tonight.

Great success has thus far attended the fourth meeting of the Eastern Wisconsin conference of the English Evangelical Lutheran Synod of the Northwest. The sessions have been held in the Caledonian rooms, beginning yesterday morning. The meeting will come to an end this evening.

Sunday Meetings of the Church of the Holy Communion, Racine, preached the sermon Sunday morning. His subject was "The Child's Relation To, and His Growth in the Kingdom of Heaven." He gave a clear and forceful exposition of his theme. In the evening Rev. W. K. Frick, of the Church of the Redeemer, Milwaukee, took the topic, "Peter's Faith in Christ's Church." The subject had special interest in the fact that the church in which the meetings are held is St. Peter's.

Today's Sessions This afternoon the first meeting was held at 2:00 o'clock. After the opening service Rev. P. E. Balsler of Grace church, Kenosha, spoke on "The Beginning of the Congregation." Rev. Gebhart of the English Lutheran church of Platteville followed in the same vein with "The Relation of the Congregation to the Synod."

"The Children" A second service began this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock, when the primary theme was "The Children." Rev. G. F. Gehr spoke on "Their Duty to the Sunday School," and Rev. Frick on "Their Duty to the Church." This evening the speakers will be Rev. H. K. Gebhart and Rev. P. E. Balsler.

Good Attendance The Caledonian rooms have been crowded at each service. It must be understood that the organization is not large, and what might be considered small in another denomination, is extremely creditable in a church whose birth occurred so short a time ago. Great interest has been manifested, and it is believed that the meetings will be of substantial aid in strengthening the ties that bind the congregation together.

Musical Service At the meetings the prescribed service of the English Lutheran church is followed. Mrs. Christine Hawley sang a solo at the meeting last evening, and will again this evening. Rev. A. C. Anda was the soloist in the morning. Among those who are present from out of the city are Rev. W. K. Frick of Milwaukee; Rev. G. F. Gehr, Racine; Rev. H. K. Gebhart, Platteville; N. K. Frick, Beloit; Miss Emma Schnell, Kenosha.

MAY START UPON BUILDING BY MAY

Frank Williams Says That the Robinson Brewing Co. Hopes To Make Improvements Soon.

By the first of May work will probably begin on additions to the present plant of the Robinson Brewing company, said Frank P. Williams this morning. Mr. Williams was about to leave on a business trip in the interest of his brewery. The commencement of operations he says, depends simply upon the sale of a couple of thousand dollars worth of stock, and which will probably go easily.

As nearly as Mr. Williams was in a position to say, the first improvements would probably consist of a bottling plant. The present cold storage would then be bricked in on the south, where it has been left hoarded up. That storage may later be used as a fermenting room, and another cold storage built for aging the liquor.

Norma Francis Schumacher, the four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Schumacher, passed away at an early hour yesterday morning at their home, 219 Locust street after a short illness with brain trouble. Her death is a heavy blow to the parents who have the sympathy of a large number of friends. The funeral was held this morning at 10 o'clock from the home of her parents, the Rev. C. J. Koerner officiating. The body was taken to Ridgeway, Wis., the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Moon, for interment. The pallbearers were her four uncles, Emil, Charles, Walter and Ferdinand Schumacher.

The Minnesota Butter Makers' and State Dairywomen's association have adopted a very commendable method of judging the butter that is entered for scoring at their annual conventions. The plan is to score the butter as soon as it arrives at St. Paul, then set it aside to be rescored two weeks after the first scoring. This second testing is to determine its keeping qualities. Frequently the butter which has scored the highest has soon commenced to rapidly deteriorate in quality. The fact is that our best informed butter makers have outgrown our old methods of scoring, which was to score but once and that a few days after the butter was made. The expert butter makers have so mastered the art of ripening their cream that they are able to make butter of an extremely high flavor, so high, in fact, that, like a highly flavored fruit, it has but little keeping qualities; however, it answers the purpose of winning a high score. To forestall this and to determine actual merit the butter is now set aside to be scored two weeks later, then from these two scores an average is struck to determine the proper score to be attached to each package. We are inclined to believe that this last judging is of more importance than the first, as two weeks after the butter is made more nearly represents the time that the butter usually reaches the consumer.—St. Paul Farmer.

Keep Accounts With Your Cows.
If farmers would open individual accounts with their cows, a great many of them would doubtless be surprised at the number of animals they are keeping merely as luxuries. It is not a safe rule to go by general impressions. Those who have tried keeping accounts have found that in many cases the cows that were thought to be the money makers of the herd did not in fact yield any profit, while others which had been considered less valuable provided a good cash income.

Disputed Questions.
Professor C. D. Smith, after five years' investigation of the milk question, has come to the following conclusion: First, a cow yields as rich milk when a heifer as when she is a mature cow; second, the milk is as rich the first month as it is later in the period of lactation, except during the last few weeks when she is drying up; third, there is very little difference in the season as to the quality of milk. While on pasture the milk is neither richer nor poorer than while on dry feed in winter; fourth, the milk from a herd varies little in composition from day to day.

A New Dairy Bill.
The dairy and food commissioners of Illinois and Ohio, in conjunction with Professor John Hamilton, the secretary of agriculture of Pennsylvania, have drawn up a dairy and food bill which it is proposed to introduce into congress. The convention of the association of the state dairy and food departments which met at Portland, Ore., last July delegated the above gentlemen as a committee to draft a national dairy and food bill. It will be introduced by Senator Cullom.

Water In the Barn.
If you have not already done so, it would be worth the trouble to seriously consider if it would not pay you well to put in a water system in your barn so that the cows will not have to go out on cold, stormy days in winter to drink ice cold water at an open tank.

Minnesota Butter Makers.
Mr. Beecher once said that God could, doubtless, have made a better berry than the strawberry, but he never did. God could have made better butter makers than the Minnesota butter makers, but I am sure he never did.—W. W. P. McConnell.

Good Work.
Time was when the average farmer and creamery man made light of the work done by agricultural colleges and experiment stations. That time has gone by, says Creamery Journal. The men in control of these institutions no longer seclude themselves in their offices and classrooms. They get out and mix with the farmers and tradesmen and conduct their experiments along practical business lines. In dairy work such men as Professors Curtis and McKay in Iowa, Henry, Babcock, Farrington and Wolf in Wisconsin, Erf and Glover in Illinois, Van Norman in Indiana, Haacker in Minnesota and a dozen others in different states have accomplished results of incalculable value to the dairy and agricultural interests of the whole country. Not only in methods of breeding, feeding and manufacture have they rendered valuable service, but they have invented some of the best creamery implements now largely used in modern creameries.

Butter Making in South Dakota.
Dairy Commissioner Sherwood of South Dakota reports 153 creameries in operation in that state, and he estimates the output for the past year of 7,222,968 pounds at an average of 17½ cents a pound. This gave $2,000,000 for the milk of cows contributing to the creameries, while he estimates the total value of butter sold in South Dakota, including that made at home, to be over $1,000,000.

Benefits of Dairy School.
It has become a recognized fact that at least one dairy school course is absolutely essential to the education of the successful butter maker. Only a few short years ago this idea was seldom present in the mental collection of the average creamery man. How fast conditions and the popular idea of things do change!

THE BEGINNERS.

A Pleasant Little Chat With Them by One Who Is a Veteran Now.

In my travels among amateur poultrymen I find that many of them are weak on the variety food question. To produce eggs you must feed the elements of which an egg is composed. Water is a scarce article in many yards, yet water, good, clean, fresh water, is the very foundation of the egg basket. Growing stock as well as laying stock must have it.

Then food! The general custom among many is to feed the most of the kind of food that is the cheapest and the easiest procured. This is not wise. Many times the food that is the most needed in the yards is the most difficult to get, but it will pay you to get it somehow.

The city boy says, "Feed's hard to get." That's true, but let me whisper in your ear. You get about three or four little baskets or boxes and place them near your neighbor's house and tell him to throw his table scraps into it, and then you take it away when you promise, and they will soon come to look at it as a privilege for you to take their scraps, and your poultry will be getting a number of things which will help them grow and to yield eggs. This is not theory, but a bit of experience.

But the country boy, oh, where is he? Most any farmer will rent or lease a small parcel of ground to his son or somebody else's son for a small sum. Then go to work in earnest, and you will be surprised to see how much sunflower seed, how many peas, beans, lettuce and cabbage you can grow on a small piece of ground. There is no such thing as fall to the fellow who wants to make things go.

Years ago I called one of my favorite birds "Big Joe." He soon learned to know his name and seemed as proud of it as I was of him. Then it gives your birds prestige at home and abroad. Many times when visitors would come to see my poultry they would ask to see "Lanky Bob," "Clydes S. Grant," "The Prince of the Alleghenies" or some other favorite, and when they ordered eggs they would ask for them from the pen headed by one of these "named" birds.

Yes, name your birds, for that gives you a name, and that is what you want. Thompson's Kinglets, Garner's Ben-Hur or even, in my own case, Keystone Beauties have all been little gold mines to the owners. Name your birds. They'll love you more, and you'll love them more.

Well do I remember the night when a half dressed, bareheaded and barefooted boy ran out into the night's darkness with a stick of stove wood in his (my) hand to take vengeance on the owl that was having a feast on some of his (my) fancy stock.

A hen has nerves as well as your mother, and to have some midnight enemy prowling around her roosting quarters frightens her almost to death. And I have found that a hen that has been badly scared never does as well again. I cannot explain the philosophy of the fact, but I know it is true. Keep your birds safe and tame, and you have overcome a great feat in the poultry world.—William Harris Guyer in Inland Poultry Journal.

Oats as a Feed for Laying Hens.
The majority of farmers consider oats a dangerous feed for chickens. The sharp points sometimes pierce the lining of the chicken's crop, thus producing a severe inflammation, usually resulting in death. Some varieties of oats are stiffer and sharper pointed than others. Then we believe there is more danger when the fowls are allowed to gorge themselves than when given a limited quantity.

All the cases we ever know of where disease was caused by feeding oats to chickens went to the field or garden and ate all they wanted. We have frequently fed oats to our laying hens with the best results.

We feed at the rate of about two table-spoonfuls to the hen in the morning, the hens having access to plenty of water and grit. When oats are fed extra care should be taken to provide the fowls with an abundance of grit and pure water. The water softens the hull of the oats, while the grit grinds it. Oats are a large and muscle making food and an egg producer.—Cor. National Stockman.

Ventilation and Drafts.
Much of the annoyance of "drafts" by poultry writers is the result of misunderstanding. The same writers will recently recommend ventilation, but there must be no draft; otherwise the fowls will all take rags and die. How ventilation can be secured without draft is not explained. "Draft" is a "current of air." To be ventilation, it may be a brisk or dim st. imperceptible current, but there is a draft. To much ventilation is the same as too much draft. Where fowls roost they should not be too much exposed to the draft. When fowls are in the house, the draft should be so regulated as to keep the fowls comfortable and to keep the house clean.—Farmers' Review.

To Stop Feather Baring.
When the fowls get to picking the feathers off each other's neck, I take a piece of raw, fat salt pork—a piece with a good rind, so it will not come down in the dirt—and, driving a nail through the rind, nail it to some part of the building in easy reach of the hens and let them work at it all they please. When this is gone, if they still continue to pick off the feathers, I give them another piece. There is something lacking in their food when they pick off and eat each other's feathers, and the raw, fat salt pork supplies the deficiency and stops feather eating.—Josephine M. Davis in American Agriculturist.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

Chicago Barkeeper Thinks They Will Not Return Again.

Says Candidates Nowadays Won't Thaw Out—Calls Them a Lot of Cheap Guys and Chicken-Feed Statesmen.

"Elections are getting quieter and quieter all the time, especially as far as the saloon business is concerned," said a West side bartender to a Chicago Tribune reporter, "and the past election was about the quietest I ever saw. A dollar of campaign money on a saloon bar now is nearly as scarce as a white blackbird."

"No, there's nothin' doin'." It's not like the old election times at all. Then a candidate for alderman or any other political job had to be a good fellow and a spender. His way to boost himself was to go round and paint things red and make them whoop. When you saw him and his gang coming down the street it looked like there was a riot or a revolution. In every saloon there was a congregation of red-eyed bums waiting to get the glad hand and their beer from him and from the other fellow. The crowd would line up at the bar and shout for him and tell him he was the whole thing. Then he would make his little spiel and jolly them up and order drinks, and the same again, and a good cigar for all hands, and throw down a five or a ten-dollar bill, or maybe a $20 bill. And expect any change? Not on your tin-type. And no decent bartender would ever dream of giving him any. Bet your life he wouldn't.

"But my, how different now! The old candidates were princes compared with some of these fellows. A cheaper lot of guys never came over the pike, and how they have the gall to look for votes is what gets me. Most of them seem to be members of the W. C. T. U. Soda water and brown pop is their limit, and they seem to expect to get it for nothing."

"Why, the other day a candidate for something or other, one of these cheap statesmen of the new-fangled stripe of 'dead game sports,' save us all! Mounted in here with a lot of ward heelers, ordered beers for the rounders and ginger ale for himself and his particular grooms, and handed me a two-dollar bill. His eyes grew like saucers when I rung up the whole two dollars on the register.

"Don't I get any change, bartender?" he asked, and he figured it out that I owed him 35 cents.

"I don't do business that way," I says, "not at election times. If you're so ignorant of campaign etiquette, your mother had better keep you at home. You're a hot proposition for a representative, you are!"

"He looked so mad that I made a break for the bung starter. O, it gives me the chills. I'd like to have seen that fellow's finish a few years ago."

"And the skate that is running against him isn't any improvement, either, although he's an alderman and a saloon keeper and ought to know better. A poor welcome he'd have in his own joint for any political candidate who'd leave less than ten bucks on his greasy old bar. And what is he doing on his glorious campaign? I'll tell you his little dodge. He puts a lot of dimes and nickels in his pocket before he starts out and he slaps a handful of them on the bar with a big bluff at reckless generosity and says: 'Come on, old man, I'm feelin' good to-day; give the boys a drink and have one on me yourself, and take the price out of that.' He tried it on me, but it didn't work. I scooped up the measly little pile of chicken feed, about $1.50, and swept it into the till."

"That's all right, Johnny," I says, "but it's a poor way of doing business during a hot campaign, seein' that it cuts no ice for me and puts no states on the house. Get proper and be a model candidate," says I.

"Then he gets mad, too, and goes away with his nose in the air."

"So that's the kind of thing we saloon keepers was up against this fall campaign, and that's the kind of stuff a lot of these noble new statesmen are made of. They'll give you plenty of guff, but to get them to loosen up is like trying to find the north pole. They're goin' round to private homes jollyin' the women and coaxin' them to have their husbands vote for them, and kissin' the children and maybe givin' them a cent here and there. But the good old times are gone and the days of the saloon campaign are over."

EARTH'S CRUST SPLITS OPEN

Wabash, Ind., March 23.—When Trustee Elkhough of Tipton township, Cass county, went out on his farm to look at a ditch he had worked on he was surprised to find a huge crack in the earth several hundred feet long where the ditch had been. The ditch itself had disappeared. No earthquake shock had been felt in the vicinity and the phenomenon is inexplicable to persons in the neighborhood. The crack is broad and deep and seems to have followed the line of Elkhough's ditch.

Saved

From Horror of Sudden Death.

Terribly Bloating, Severe Pain.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure Cured Completely.

When your heart is right you are unconscious that you have one; when anything goes wrong you know it at once—if you take heed. The heart warns by shortness of breath, palpitation, fluttering, hard beating, pain in chest, left side, or between shoulder blades, fainting, smothering or sinking spells. The only reliable remedy that any one knows of is Dr. Miles' Heart Cure. It has always cured when nothing else would even help. Read the remarkable statement of Mrs. Ingram: "Dr. Miles' Heart Cure saved my life and Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve saved me from insanity. I was very skeptical when I began using them but my boy begged me to give them a fair trial and I bought three bottles of the Heart Cure and four of the Nerve. My heart fluttered so and I could hardly walk because from my knees to my feet my legs were terribly bloated in the afternoon. I suffered from terrible burning in my throat. The top of my head was sore. I suffered pain in the small of my back. I lost my appetite and could not sleep. I suffered from pains in my left shoulder, swelling under left arm, pain around my heart, shortness of breath and extreme nervous spells. My doctor gave me up but Dr. Miles' Heart Cure and Nerve and Liver Pills cured me completely. My pains and aches and palpitation are all gone, and I am now enjoying good health. I cheerfully recommend Dr. Miles' Remedies and hope that others may experience the same benefit that I have."—Mrs. N. A. Ingram, Stanton, Mich.

CRITICAL STATE ALONG LEVEES

GREAT CAVE IN BREAKWATER

Two Thousand Sacks of Sand Have Been Dumped Into the Crevasse at Fittler's Without Making Any Perceptible Impression.

Vicksburg, Miss., March 23.—Officers of the steamer City of St. Joseph, which reached here from Greenville, report a critical state of affairs along the Issaquena county front. All along the line the water is almost on a level with the crown of the levees, and at several points it is washing over.

The new work is holding badly, and at Fittler's a great cave has appeared in the old levee. Into this cavity 2,000 sacks filled with sand have been dumped without perceptible effect.

Levee Gives Away.

The private levee protecting the Hamp Davis place in Issaquena county gave way, flooding thousands of acres of cultivated land. The breaking of this levee will seriously affect the weakened levee extending from Duval's to Ghotard, a distance of four miles, and news of a break in that line is momentarily expected.

Inspector Dulaney, who is in charge of the work there, has about decided to cut the old levee at half a dozen places, as a sudden break would be disastrous to the new levee further back. This is vigorously opposed by the people living between the levees and feeling is said to be running high.

At Duval's, and from Brunswick to Ghotard, there is imminent danger at several points, where larger forces of laborers are working day and night.

Brings Many Refugees.

The City of St. Joseph brought in more than a hundred refugees, men, women, and children, from the Davis and Kiger places, and will go back as soon as discharged for others who are imperiled by backwater.

Four hundred head of stock have been concentrated on the high places at Australia awaiting removal, but it is feared that most of these will be swept away before a boat can be secured for bringing them out. On the Louisiana side, about Plicher's point, conditions similar to those at Fittler's exist, and it is feared it will be impossible to hold the line much longer.

The gauge here is rising, and the under the hill section of the city, embracing the wholesale district, the railroad shops, and the compress, is well covered with water.

HOT SHOT FOR CARNEGIE FROM LAWYER JEROME

New York District Attorney Believes Men at Homestead Entitled to Money Spent for Libraries.

New York, March 23.—District Attorney Jerome in an address to the Central Federation union attacked Andrew Carnegie and his library plan. Rumor has been busy for some weeks if Mr. Jerome ventured to address the body he might expect rough treatment, but nothing of the kind occurred. Of the multiplicity of projected libraries he said:

"It is well enough to build public libraries and to give public libraries and the like and such things in the way of gratuity and things of that kind, but when a man has stood behind a lathe for ten hours he does not want to read classical literature in a public library. He would a heap rather, and even those men that are using such libraries would rather, that some of the money had been left in the pockets of the men at Homestead than to have it taken to found public libraries in the city of New York."

Of the disputes between capital and labor Mr. Jerome said:

"You are not 10 per cent, you men of organized labor, of the men of the United States. If you think the other 90 per cent are going to stand for violence you misread them. They won't have it. I take it that no man to-day is more respected than John Mitchell, and yet there were no stronger words than his issued against physical violence."

AMES IS RELEASED ON BIG BOND

Minneapolis Ex-Mayor Is Held in $21,000 Bail.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 23.—Judge Pond and Assistant County Attorney Jolly accepted the bond of Dr. A. A. Ames and he was released from custody. There are seventeen sureties, none of whom are practicing physicians, and the amount of the bond is $21,000. Dr. W. E. Rockford, son-in-law of Dr. Ames, who, with his wife, has been estranged from the former mayor for twelve years, was largely instrumental in getting the bondsmen. He insists, however, that there has been no reconciliation.

FLAMES SWEEP POPLAR GROVE

Illinois Village Suffers Damage to the Extent of $25,000.

Belvidere, Ill., March 23.—The village of Poplar Grove was devastated by fire. Webster's bank, the post-office, Cowan's general store, a grain elevator and seven other buildings used in various lines of business were wiped out. The loss is estimated at $25,000, with insurance at half that amount.

(Special By Scripps-McLine.)

bill will pass the upper house. The ad valorem taxation bill will probably go through with an amendment creating a board apart from the tax commission to determine the value of railway property. This was also Assemblyman Bradford's plan, and there is believed to be some chance that the assembly might concur in it, though it was defeated as an amendment when the bill passed the lower house.
